Monthly Online Newsletter of the Nigerian Ports Authority

Vol. 4 No.39 October, 2020

The Managing Director of the NPA, Hadiza Bala Usman has allayed the fears and anxiety being expressed by Stakeholders and the general public on the possible negative effects of the recent attacks at the Corporate Headquarters confirming that it did not affect Port Operations across the nation's seaport. Adding that there had instead been smooth Operations and Ship traffic across the nation's Seaports as always, in the wake of suspicion that the attack by hoodlums had crippled activities of organization.

The MD reaffirmed that management would rather not be deterred by this dastardly act but would further strategize at promoting and providing improved and efficient service across the Ports in line with International best practice.

Hadiza asserted that "the situation has not affected Operations in any way as we have continued to render our services unhindered"

It would be recalled that Authority's chief spokesperson Engr. Adams Jatto, in a recent press statement affirmed the attack at the Headquarters but added that earlier attempts at the Tinian Island Port (TCIP) were rebuffed by a combination of the NPA Security and the Police men at the Port Command.

Thereafter throngs of sympathizers from across the Terminal Operators and Stakeholders visited the Headquarters to commiserate with the management over the ugly incident.

The FAL Committee is a very important department of the International Maritime Organisation that addresses the efficiency of Shipping and dealing with matters related to enabling International Maritime traffic which include arrival and departure of Ships, persons and Cargo from Ports.

It is to further ensure that right balance is struck between Maritime Security and the facilitation of International Maritime Trade.

9 WAYS TO SAVE ELECTRICITY CONSUMPTION BY NERC

The Nigerian Electricity Regulatory Commission have put together 9 ways to save your electricity consumption. This is in light with the recent increase in electricity billing.

1. Turn off lights and electrical appliances when not in use: don't leave your electronics or light bulbs on all day long.

2. Switch to energy-efficient light bulbs: Traditional light bulbs waste 95% of the energy they use giving off heat, with only 5% going toward the light. Switch them out or use them sparingly. Leaving them on for long periods is highly wasteful. Halogen incandescent bulbs, compact fluorescent lights (CFLs), and light-emitting diode bulbs (LEDs) use anywhere from 25-80 percent less electricity and last 3 to 25 times longer than traditional bulbs.

3. Reduce the use of water heaters: Water heating is a major contributor to your total energy consumption. Other than purchasing an energy-efficient water heater, there are two methods of reducing your water heating expenses, you can simply use less hot water or turn down the thermostat on your water heater.

4. Purchase energy-efficient appliances: Appliances account for a large amount of energy consumed in households, offices, and industries. With this in mind, it is important to be intentional about purchases made to ensure that energy-efficient appliances are installed.

5. Set refrigerator temperature to the manufacturers recommendation: This is important to avoid excessive cooling and wasting energy.

6. Unplug battery chargers when not in use: Many devices including battery chargers draw power continuously even when not in use.

7. Plug home electronics into power strips: Use power strips such as adaptors and extension boards to reduce energy consumption. Turn the power strips off when equipment is not in use. You'll stop these devices from using energy when idle with one convenient switch.

8. Bring in sunlight: During daylight hours, switch off artificial lights and use windows and skylights to brighten your home.

9. Service your air conditioner: Easy maintenance, such as routinely replacing or cleaning air filters can lower your cooling systems energy consumption.
